Combined In-Home Services

Combined In-Home Services (CIHS) is a suite of therapeutic services provided to families and children, managed by FIN. These services are designed to prevent an out-of-home placement, facilitate a safe return, avoid a placement disruption, teach parent education and provide crisis intervention with families connected to the Child Welfare system.

These therapeutic services are administered by highly educated and qualified practitioners. Providers in our network range from sole proprietors to very large non-profit agencies. Practitioners providing Evidence Based Practices (EBPs) are required to meet fidelity requirements defined in each practice and are monitored for quality through those entities.

The Department of Children Youth and Families (DCYF) has geographic locations separated into six regions. Region 1 and Region 2 are made up of 20 counties in Eastern and Central Washington. FIN began overseeing CIHS in Region 1 in July 2017 and expanded these services to Region 2 in May 2020. FIN currently has 25 CIHS providers in DCYF's Regions 1 and 2.

DCYF social workers identify which service is appropriate for a family and send the referral to FIN. FIN then makes the connection with the provider.
